

Gretchen Carlson is an internationally recognized advocate for women's rights whose bold actions against Fox News Chairman Roger Ailes helped pave the way for the global #MeToo movement. Named one of Time Magazine's "100 Most Influential People in the World," she is the author of the bestselling books "Be Fierce" and "Getting Real." One of America's most successful television journalists, Gretchen has reported our nation's biggest stories for nearly two decades at CBS News and FOX News. Since 2017, she has advocated in Congress for the bipartisan "Ending Forced Arbitration of Sexual Harassment Act," co-founded the non-profit Lift Our Voices to eradicate forced arbitration and NDAs and returned to television as a special contributor to the new People Magazine show PEOPLE TV. Carlson also hosts a daily straight down the middle news podcast "Get The News With Gretchen Carlson" on Quake Media. Her many honors include the Sandra Day O'Connor Lifetime Achievement award, NOW's Women of Power and Influence Award and the Radio & Television Digital News Association's First Amendment Leadership Award. She sits on the TIME'S UP Global Leadership Board, is a March of Dimes Trustee and supports underserved women through her Gift of Courage Fund.
